G’afur G’ulom, one of the famous figures of Uzbek literature, was born on May 10, 1903 in the Korgontegi neighborhood of Tashkent. G’afur, who was orphaned by his father at the age of nine and his mother at the age of fifteen, first studied at the old school, then at the Russian-Tuzem school. In the years after the October coup, he graduated from a teacher training course and worked as a teacher in new schools. From 1923, he worked as a manager and educator in an orphanage, then in the editorial offices of the newspapers "Kambag’al Dehqan", "Qizil Uzbekiston", "Sharq Haqiqati". For him, the newspaper plays the role of a dorilfu, it became an important tool for studying the life of the people and actively participating in it.

He glorified kindness, goodness, brotherhood, and friendship. He called on the people and the masses to mobilize for a great goal and idea. Encouraged to look to the future with high hopes. These are the important characteristics of his works.

In the artistic praise of these features, the deep thoughts of the lyrical hero and his wisdom, the variety, multifacetedness, polysemy, fullness of the images that show this wisdom, in a word, the philosophy, the poet's work appears as an important sign.

A scholarship and a badge were established in his name. Tashkent State Law University established a special scholarship and badge named after G’afur G’ulom (Fig – 1). This was reported by the Public and Media Relations Department of the university.

This was based on the decision of the Cabinet of Ministers dated August 24, 2020 "On measures to promote the creative heritage of our famous writers and thinkers among young people and to effectively use the Avenue of Writers."
